

Time to check the pulse of 'General Hospital' fans

By Michele Greppi

We submit for your consideration, the following letter:

"I am a big fan of 'General Hospital.' I have been watching it for four years now. I have been disappointed for the past couple of months. It isn't fair Luke Spencer always has to be the main attraction. He always has the girl and he is always the hero. Like recently he just had to be the one to save Monica and Bobby from that gunman. Not only did he save them, but he had Scorpio shot because of his big mouth. What makes me mad is that in the show everybody is glad because he is the 'hero' but they didn't care about Scorpio getting shot. They make Scorpio and Holly look bad. I think they make a great couple. Like now Luke is running for mayor. I think they made him out to be some kind of god. This is the problem: My sister is totally opposite. She loves Luke and she says Scorpio stole Holly. I think that is totally stupid. Do you think I'm right or she is? I really need your opinion. Thanks a lot, Ann Greyson, Atlanta"

This is a job for "General Hospital" fans, of which FEEDBACK is not one. This is also a chance for said fans to put their opinions about the soap's direction in a pipeline direct to "GH" producers and writers. FEEDBACK will total the vote and let Ann know whether the consensus is with her or not and then package all the letters and have them delivered to "GH" executives.

Because of the volume of mail, no individual replies can be made. Address questions about television shows or personalities to FEEDBACK, The Atlanta Journal-Constitution, P.O. Box 4689, Atlanta, Ga. 30302.
